

≡ Know Your Rights ≡

Right to Remain Silent

You have the right to remain silent during interactions with law enforcement or immigration officers. You are only required to provide your name and identification, not your immigration status.

Right to an Attorney

If you are detained or face legal proceedings, you have the right to an attorney. In criminal cases, if you cannot afford an attorney, one will be provided. In immigration cases, while you are not entitled to an attorney, you can hire one or seek pro bono legal assistance.

Protection from Unreasonable Searches & Seizures

Law enforcement or ICE officers generally cannot enter or search your home without a valid warrant signed by a judge, and you have the right to ask to see the warrant.

Disclaimer: This document is intended for informational purposes only and is neither legal advice nor a substitute for legal assistance. For specific legal guidance, always consult with an attorney or accredited representative.